Business Analyst

In an agile environment the role of the business analyst is to support the product owner (PO) with decision making. They do this by deep-diving on problems and providing options on ways to proceed the product evolution.

A key part of the role is to help the PO make informed decisions. This helps reduce the risk of non-customer focussed knee-jerk decision making.

Involved in

Daily stand-up

Refinement

Review

Retrospective

Role Responsibilities

- · Challenge ideas and views of stakeholders
- Ensure various customer perspectives are considered
- · Clearly defines the behaviour of the system
- · Ensure the team has sufficient detail to get to done
- Provides benefit calculation to the PO
- Gathers metrics and data for the sprint review

Agile BA Tools

- · Risk analysis
- · Stakeholder mapping
- Benefit/impact analysis
- User story mapping
- Specification by example
- Behaviour driven development
- Business rule elicitation

Typical Day

Review business rules with stakeholder BDD meeting with developers Preparation for planning

Discuss vendor capability

©Agility in Mind Ltd. +44 (0)330 043 0143 • better@agility.im

